I was heart broken when I jumped on the plane. I thought that I was losing something that I could not explain. It was really sad to leave Mendi, the place where I belong. Buy reality and the fact of life says that now I am not from Mendi.

When I arrived in Port Moresby city, the day was obviously fine, but I was feeling uneasy and my mind was troubled. But after the day passed I made up my mind not to think too much, and instead I focused that were going to happen tomorrow.

Discussion making must be wise. Words that you say, and things that you do. I knew I would harvest well in life if I made focused decisions. But I didn't know what my future would be when I arrived here.

There is a good advantage behind me, and I know I will achieve my goals in life, no matter what happens. I am standing on the ground that will never fall.

Education is the key to success.
